

Ruby's Fund Virtual Sensory Bus Session

We are so pleased your child / children are booked to experience a virtual play session on our Sensory Bus. The bus has a variety of multi-sensory equipment and will be complemented by our provision of resources that we will send out to you in advance and items you may already have. These resources will support the children in their learning and experience with us and will hopefully promote independent play after our sessions. The possibilities for creativity are endless!

If possible try to provide a space for the session where you can dim the lights and make it as quiet as possible. If you are limited for space an idea is to find a big box and put it on the table over the child's device, or put a blanket over a table, to make a sensory space where they can work.

We have created a list of equipment and resources below that will be used during the session – some which Ruby's Fund will send in advance and some which you could provide if possible:
